THE NEXT 50 YEARS

Jeffrey

The idea behind the book was simply to gather stories and old photographs to jog your memory about places people and different events. Some of the letters will definitely achieve their intended goal - some well... you will have to read them to see for yourself. I know you will enjoy looking through the book, and I hope you will derive as much pleasure looking through it as I did putting it together for you.

Happy Happy Birthday

Love

Carol

These were your body guards before you began traveling with presidents and getting the army and secret service to protect you.

JAN. 1957

HAPPY 50th Birthday

may 2003 prove to BE the year you are most HAPPY

Dear Son JEFF.

I HAVE been very busy

REMINISCING since Ghislaine asked me to write about you for your book. I keep thinking about then and now.

my father drove Seymour and me to the hospital that cold, snowy day in January to become parents of a beautiful, healthy son. Jeff you have been a good son from day one and we have been proud of you ever since ~

(1)

I recall you refused to go to sleep unless I read a story from Grandma's Golden Book that she bought for 25¢. Grandma visited us every Saturday.

~~Today~~ You are still An AVID reader - Books cost 2 dollars.

I knew you were an excellent student because your report cards were "A plus." At PTA meetings I begged your Teachers to help improve your handwriting.

At age 5 you had your first accordion lesson. Lessons later Teacher Mr. MATOS booked you in Carnegie Hall. You won prizes in Prospect Park, Central Park & other local competitive prizes.

Today. Do you know where your accordion is?

You also played at your Bar Mitzvah And Uncle Lenny's Bar Mitzvah. (2)

After a time of switching to Piano Lessons Mr. Jerome Tolles recommended you to InterLochen where you had fun. I don't know if it improved your Piano. Today you own A Log cabin there.

At age 24 Cosmopolitan magazine featured you as "Bachelor of the Month." Today you still hold that TITLE,

We objected 100% to your going to Europe at that time. After graduation we would have seen to it you would travel as a Gentleman tourist. Instead you went with Terry Kafka - We pictured you coming home tired, undernourished - picky. To our surprise you looked great and had a great time -

Your experiences in Europe helped you get the job at Dalton. (3)

Today - a limousine awaits
 You as a dignitary.

Jeff, I'm so sorry that Dad can't share the Nachos we have regarding your achievements. He would have been overjoyed reading the article about you in the New York magazine.

I was looking at family Tapes. We had many, many, parties, anniversary parties etc, you enjoyed being there.

Today you AVOID gatherings, Parties - why?

Tonite is the deadline I must get this manuscript to Whislaine.

If I know me, as soon as I mail it. I will think of WHAT I should at Raid.

THE SEA GATE CHRONICLE

Accordion Torture

By Robert Wolfe
Sea Gate Gazette

A Sea Gate boy was forced by his mother to play "Flight of the Bumble bee" and "Saber Dance" on his squeeze box, 100 times a day for 5 years. By the time the lad became proficient, he was able to play the tunes 100 times in 10 minutes. Firemen from the 318 Hook and Ladder Division were always called in for his daily recital, in order to douse the flames if the boy's fingers caught fire from his dervish-like playing.

Months later, the musical lad's mom, again forced the boy against his will, to perform the two pieces at Carnegie Hall in front of thousands attending. She threatened to withhold his treasured Nathan's lobster salad, if he refused to perform perfectly. He performed once again, and was treated to a one-pound container of his favorite delicacy.

Seafood Diet??

By Bubbles Axelrod
Coney Island Gourmet

Coney Island Health officials reported today, that a boy survived the first 13 years of his life eating only Nathan's Lobster Salad and drinking Sunny Boy Orange drinks. His mother specifically went to the beach to buy the Sunny Boys complete with conical wax coated containers and the metal ring at the mouth. She claimed the metal ring gave her son bigger lips for playing saxophone and bassoon; and the lobster salad, she believed would make her son a genius. The mother was committed to an insane asylum in Florida, and the boy believes he has 2 jets, an island, a ranch, mansions and a sexy English socialite girlfriend.

After the boy was taken into custody by officials and fed lox, bagels and cream cheese, the hallucinations disappeared. He was given a ¾ length black leather coat and returned to his daily activities of providing free ice cream and candy to his friends (courtesy of Jack's Firestone luncheonette).

Beach Attack

By Lawrence Dyck
Sea Gate Observer

Lloyd Bridges "Human Fish", a water monger, and a local t-shirt clad Hippo were attacked by a school of deadly Coney Island Whitefish. The attack occurred last Saturday just off the Sea Gate Cabanas at Beach One. The enraged Hippo then clammed indiscriminately, and repeatedly on the chests and faces of the other victims. The "Human Fish", and the water monger also reported a curious yellow warmth in the seawater when they came close to the Hippo. The swimmers thanked the Hippo for throwing a fit and clamping, as it scared the school of whitefish off. All beaches are flying a Coney Island Whitefish warning flag for the remainder of the swimming season.

Nickel Artist Arrested

By Lillian Fisher
Handicap Times Magazine

Coney Island's Melvin Fromholder was best known as "Mad Mel" the nickel carver. Mel had the uncanny ability to cut everything off a buffalo nickel, leaving only the buffalo and the "ring" surrounding it. Customers would travel from all 5 boroughs and wait months to buy one of the hard-to-get coins. A local wisecracker named Larry-John Streitman, tried to pump Mel for information on how to mass-produce these coins. Fromholder was insulted and became enraged. Mad Mel lived up to his name when he stabbed Streitman in the "Stomach and the Leg" 10 times. Ironically, Streitman was wearing a cheap copy of Mel's original "No Hassle Band" on his wrist when he was attacked. "If it wasn't for the "No Hassle Band", said Streitman, "I woulda been dead".

Fromholder is doing hard time, and can't fill customer's orders for the nickels because officials refused to let Mel have his tools. You'd better get in line; Mad Mel's in for 5 years and he's got 5125 orders for the prized buffalo nickels.

Europe on a Budget

By Yehudah Leibig
Sons of Israel Travel Guide

Two Sea Gate teens claim to have started out with $500 each, and managed to travel Europe for 2 months. The boys hitch-hiked, wandered and adventured through Europe while their stupid friend served hamburgers and french fries at Nathan's. The two returned with long hair, suntans and 2 brand new Triumph Tiger 500 Motorcycles; they even had change to boot. One of the two actually lost 40 pounds, because of the serious lobster shortage in Europe.

Dirt Brothers Arrested

By Richard Freed
Tutoring Are Us Magazine

Once again, the infamous "Dirt Brothers" were seen on Sea Gate Avenue illegally dumping drain oil from their "Lemon" Camaro. Sgt. Gino "Gene" Venezia arrested the two brothers. Judge Phil Russick found the Dirt Brothers guilty and sentenced them to 48 hrs. confinement with Bobby Wolfe, Larry Dick, Dicky Friedman, Donnie DiPasquale, Gerald Bullah, [REDACTED] and [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] Upon release, the elder brother commented, "screw it, next time we'll take it to the grease monkey".

Hunchback Dies

By Not so Lucky Luckfield
Firecracker Chronicle

Robert Avner, Coney Island's only living hunchback died last week of an infected hunch. Observers witnessed Avner screaming at his friends for help with his itching back. "Scratch like a bitch, scratch like a bitch" he pleaded, but it was too late; no one would scratch the infected hunch. Avner died of whiplash from repeatedly turning his head to far left and far right during his last minutes.

Teen Bitten

By Mrs. Shmolowitz
Woolworth Newsletter

A Sea Gate teenager (name withheld) was viciously bitten on the neck by crazed Steve Jankowitz. The bitten youth was found crying after witness "Count Hymie" recounted the (cont'd. pg. 4, column 1) gruesome details. Sea Gate cops were unable to capture the foaming-mad Jankowitz, which resulted in the victim being forced to have 29 injections in the stomach. A Bite Alert has been announced and posted on the Sea Gate Chapel Bulletin Board.

Pizza Man Goes Berserk!

By Yetta Parnes
Yenta Times

Pizza man Luigi Tortoni flew into a fit of rage after employer Arthur Stern (owner of the famed restaurants, "The Spot" and "The Riviera Snack Bar") told Luigi that he would start using fake cheese in his pizza. Tortoni exploded and held Stern at knife point until Sgt. Gino "Gene" Venezia of Sea Gate Police S.W.A.T. team negotiated with the mad Italian. The straight-jacketed Tortoni was promptly shipped back to Italy. Sources report that Luigi Tortoni is now a famous spumoni scoop designer frequently seen on the prestigious Vespa racing circuit.

Dermatologist Fights Fire

By Robert Ardigo
Pizza Face Pages

World renowned Pimple Expert Dr. Shin Ho Yep claims the secret to a great complexion is in his secret formula. Hundreds of butter face teens flock to Dr. Yep's office off Ocean Pkwy. in Brooklyn to obtain much needed help. The Dr. applies his "secret formula" to kid's faces and within seconds their skin feels like a raging inferno. Some patients wail in agony from the fiery concoction, and if they scream loud enough, Yep says "just 10 more minutes". If they start to cry, Dr. Yep proclaims "OK we put out fire now". He takes a tissue and puts 2 drops of water on it and barely dabs at the blistering skin. Chemical analysis of Yep's "secret formula" found it to be nothing but a combination of straight hydrochloric and sulfuric acids. The results: a cranberry sauce red appearance immediately after treatment, but after two weeks, all but one kinky haired Sea Gate boy, had a peaches and cream complexion.

Fast '56

By Larry John Streitman
Double A Fuel Magazine

Sea Gate's Sgt. Gene Venezia amazes the community with his nitro methane burning "Stormin' 56 Plymouth. Custom painted in an aqua blue funny car color, this eye catcher dazzles all on-lookers. With it's four-on-the-floor Hurst T-shifter, twin Holley 4 barrel carbs, a blue printed 454 Hemi, headers and extra leaf springs, Sgt. Gene brags, "whattayamean?,,, it gets up to 50 on the Belt Pkwy. ....why these Sea Gate snot rags could only dream of owning a supercar like this".

Cap, Gown And What??

By Stanley Komito
Lafayette Legend

Four rebellious Sea Gate boys, two of whom barely graduated, were caught wearing dungarees and Beatle Boots under their graduation gowns. The graduation exercises took place at a famous movie theater in downtown Brooklyn. One of the cocky boys remarked "Hey what are they gonna fail me now??"

2 Barely Graduate

By Carl Ashby
Health Ed Journal

After making a mockery of phys-ed class for the majority of their senior year, Coach Gary Lasker pulled two teens from gym class 6 weeks before graduation and gave them the bad news: they weren't going to graduate!! Although the 2 boys had virtually straight A's in academics, they were total losers when it came to gym. They pleaded with Mr. Lasker and asked what they could do to make it up. After thinking about a just punishment, he required the students to double time in every gym class. They had to do twice the exercise, twice the running, as well as lead the class in exercise until the end of the school year. Lasker also humiliated the boys in front of each and every class, but allowed them to graduate with a grade of one point over the minimum passing grade of 65.

Yellow Laundry Mystery Solved

By Beatrice K. Cooper
Read a Book-a-Day Club

An obese Sea Gate family started to notice that their laundry mysteriously started turning yellow every time they removed it from (cont'd pg. 6, column 1)

the clothes line. Mrs. Bulla claims she uses Clorox bleach in every wash load, but the laundry curiously turns yellow and has an ammonia smell after it dries. This happened for months until her son Gerald started doing some detective work on his own. After 2 more months of surveillance, Gerald Bulla caught the culprit red (or should I say yellow) handed. The Bulla's downstairs neighbor's son had been repeatedly squirting the laundry with a squirt gun filled with an unknown yellow liquid. The Bullas were forced to move away after more highjinks occurred.

5th Graders Clean up Coney

By Nelly Bly
Graves End Books

Mr. Stephen Levy whip-trained his over-achieving class 5-3 until they mastered Easy Steps March and Aida. Only then would he allow them to be featured in the Prestigious Coney Island Clean Up Campaign Parade. The long awaited Parade arrived, and the fifth graders had to march in sweltering 110 degree heat. Fifteen of the 45 kids suffered heat exhaustion, and one saxophone player continued marching and playing until midnight. The Sea Gate boy marched until his pinky toe popped through the side of his signature blue Keds boat sneakers. He was awarded the "Schmuck of the Coney Island Clean up Campaign "award. Because of the notoriety the student gave Keds, they offered him a lifetime supply of the sneakers, as long as those were the only shoes he would ever wear in the future. The same offer came from a local sweatshirt manufacturer, but they eventually went out of business after giving the kid so many free sweatshirts. He still wears them today, but has his kid brother silk screen different logos on them such as "POLICE", "ZORRO" and "SHMITKA"

Teacher Almost Gets the Boot

By Emil Suskind
P.S. 188 News

Sixth grade teacher Ed Goldsmith, was never known to be a conventional thinker by his peers, but his students really enjoyed his non-conformism. With his dry wit and different way of looking at things, the students were always educated, as well as entertained. His colleagues never respected Goldsmith and probably resented his odd approach.

On assembly day in April of 1964, Mr. Goldsmith, an accomplished jazz pianist, played the national anthem in a "jazzed-up" version, and sent the auditorium reeling into a near riot. The teachers hated the rendition, calling it a mockery and a disgrace, while the children clapped and snapped to the coolest version of the anthem they'd ever heard!

On the next day, Mr. Goldsmith was handed his walking papers by the school administration, and made an announcement to his class, that he was forced to leave. The (cont'd pg. 7, column 1) students were dismayed, some to the point of crying. When they notified their parents of the administration's decision, students along with their parents went on strike the following day. They demanded a reversal of the decision, stating that the teacher was the one most influential persons contributing to the student's creative thinking. After a multi-hour standoff, the administration backed down and allowed Mr. Goldsmith to continue teaching until the end of the term. Ed Goldsmith stated that he would not return to the school after that year.

The kids really loved that man.

Peddle Pusher Throws Party

By Scott Pearl
Mercedes Aficionado

Paula the peddle pusher, threw a birthday bash for her pride and joy Jeffery Edward last week at the posh, exclusive, Surf Lanes in Coney. She went hog wild and provided free shoes, 2 games, hot dogs, hamburgers and soda to about 15 of the boys friends. And who do you think bowled high score? You guessed it. Later on, Paula admitted, "I only invited the most talentless bowlers, just to make Jeffery look good".

Math Teacher Is Hung!!

By Paul Medici
Math Team Newsletter

Famed diminutive math teacher Joseph "Mighty Joe" Rothman, has been a fixture at Mark Twain JHS for over 35 years. Students have taunted the midget math man ever since he started teaching. Year after year of being teased by the kids have caused the man to lash out at new students before they ever had the chance to bother him. This year was different; when he failed two students due to personality conflicts, rather than poor grades, the students held a "lynching" right in the classroom. Mighty Joe was hung by his sport coat, on a coat hook, in the students' wardrobe. Both students were expelled from school and Mr. Rothman only had his pride hurt. To this day, Mighty Joe still teaches math at age 112.

Near Drowning in Chocolate

By Willy the Soda Jerk
 Firestone Candy Papers

A brillo haired teenager was nearly drowned in Fox's U bet chocolate syrup when his four friends held him down and poured 10 jars of the thick, rich, velvety egg cream component. After 5 minutes of the syrup torture, the kinky teen suffered from terminal acne and was immediately ambulated to Dr. Shin Ho Yep, a pimple specialist. The Dr. refused treatment, as the acne was too far-gone. "To much peempoo; cannot

Near Miss on Belt Pkwy.

By Officer Bits
 Sea Gate Police Bulletin

Last Friday, 3 Sea Gate boys perpetrated a hoax on popular math tutor Richard "Dicky" Freed. One boy set the scam up by mentioning that he needed math tutoring, knowing that Dicky would surely zero in on this "needy student".
 Freed took the boy onto the Belt Pkwy. in his navy blue 63 Chevy Belair. Once they reached the large gas tanks on the way to Sheepshead Bay, two other boys who were hiding behind the back seat popped up and scared the dickens out of Dicky. He temporarily lost control of the vehicle when both arms went off the steering wheel and up to the roof of the vehicle as he shrieked in fear. The 3 boys laughed hysterically as Freed 's car careened through 3 lanes of traffic, almost flipping over the guard rail.
 Police reported the incident to the boys' parents. The punishment: 2 boys- no color TV for One week!!
 The 3rd boy was deprived of his precious lobster salad for one week.
 Freed returned to normal tutoring after a week of shoe polishing and recuperation from the mental trauma.

Freak Show

By Charles Shushan
Coney Island Mentals

It's that time of the year when the Coney Island freak show comes back to town. This year, the show will feature some of the Bear's favorites: Dicky the Penguin Man.... Watch Dicky as he apparently shuffles cards with two stumps; The Tatooed Lady.... "look!!! All meat and no potatoes" ..... "and to your own amazement, if I move my muscles, you got moving pictures!!!

Shows are every hour, on the hour. No photos.

Fans wild over Dynamite Tuna

By Chaim Gitler
Mermaid Ave. Gourmet

Every so often, a genius comes along with a new recipe that takes the world by storm. The genius this time?... the son of a Coney Island fireman, who worked for months honing the magic recipe for the perfect tuna salad. The entire neighborhood waits on line for hours outside the fireman's house, for just one small taste of the "miracle tuna". Folks can't believe that the young lad had the wisdom or knowledge to create such a masterpiece in tuna.

When asked for the recipe, the teen will only reveal one part of the secret "It has to do with squeezing the oil out of the tuna, then rinsing it with water", he said. Sources also reported seeing used Hellman's mayo jars in the trash cans behind the house. According to national tuna experts, this could be another major breakthrough in solving the "miracle tuna" puzzle.

The "tuna boy", as he is now known, commented: "If you like my tuna, wait till you taste my fantastic "Wonder Slaw" cole slaw, and my soon-to-be famous Galliano Milk Shake".

Teen brings home Brit

By Merton Boober
I.N.A. Rescue Sheet

A cocky Coney Island teenager met a genuine British Pachoochie and had the audacity to bring her home to live in his parent's house. His mother never trusted the pachoochie and believed that she insidiously sapped the intelligence and manlihood from her son. After months of monitoring and recording observed data, the mother supplied the I.N.S. with all the dope on this wild Englander and had her deported. When the boy regained his senses, he had totally forgotten any details of the British pachoochie.

Ejected from Singles Weekend

By Henny Youngman
Catskills Comics

Coney Island teens signed up for what should have been a fun singles weekend at Kutsher's Country Club, but something went awry. After causing disturbance at the pool, the young men went to their room and made so much noise that security had to come and warn them of probable ejection from the premises. Later on, the trouble-makers arrived at the main ballroom for dinner. Each table was matched with boys and girls for the event. Again, the boys were causing more trouble, and by the time the food was served, the crowning blow occurred. One of the teens known as "Neutral", started eating directly out of the large salad serving bowl. To make things worse, he ate without knife or fork, much like a mad dog. He was actually foaming at the mouth, growling, and jerking his head up and down as he chewed the salad. Needless to say, the boys were immediately escorted from the ballroom, and promptly told to leave Kutcher's without delay.

Dearest Jeff:

Fifty years old. You really have had a pretty amazing life. Amazing because of where and when it started. Paula and Seymour fucking. Who was there to tell him where to stick it? Who told him to spit on her cunt to make it wet? Maybe they had more on the ball then we all give them credit for.

Anyway from that night back in May of 1953, as they lay there intoxicated from their lovemaking, little did they know what they would be bringing into the world early the next year. Lets fast forward to you. I remember summers when Warren would always work some shit ass job (Nathan's) for minimum wage, I would always find something (Male Ego in Brighten Beach) and Frog would too (Cabana Boy). But you, Jeff would never work. Yes, you were special. You did things like music camps in Michigan, etc. Which brings me to when you lost your virginity. You may not remember, but I was under the same roof that could new years eve in '66 or '67 (not sure). The first time I ever flew was with you. I went with you to Michigan to visit your friend [REDACTED], the Interlochen girl for new years eve. It was also the first time I had ever laid eyes on a bright, attractive, bubbly, blue eyed, mid western female. She was like an alien to me. She wasn't Jewish or Italian. Wasn't she your first? My first was up in Monticello, where I spent part of the summer with Lloyd and Andy working at Playland Arcade in Monticello. It was Lloyd's girlfriend. Anyway, back to the Michigan trip, because it was significant. Jeff, you took me with you. It was my first time out of Brooklyn. It was no big deal, but we went. And nobody else ever WENT anywhere back when and where we came from.

And then on to Europe. The second time I ever flew. Sabena Airlines to Brussels. Wasn't it $800 RT. In Europe, I really saw a true transformation in you. You lost all of your chubbiness and I remember noticing that you grew a few inches. We both got absolutely skinny in those weeks abroad. I will always remember how you were constantly working the train schedules – riding by night so would have a free place to sleep and arriving to our destinations in the morning ready to hit the sites. We'd drink in all that the cities had to offer on a budget of $2 a day. Author Frommer's EUROPE ON $5 A DAY was for suckers. We did it cheaper, deeper, wider and better. We saw and learned so much on that memorable trip. We hitch hiked, we biked, we trained, we ferried, we walked, we ran, we always somehow managed to get where we wanted to go and see what we wanted to see. We slept on trains, boats, beaches, abandoned houses, flop houses, people's homes, friend's apts. Everywhere but hotels and hostels. We were too savvy to stay in a youth hostel – weren't we? Hell, I can't even remember us having a sit down meal on that trip. We couldn't care less about food. But we did enjoy all that cheese and bread and train station soup. Remember our first night in Europe. It probably was our worst. But, we did steal two heavy, itchy blankets from that youth hostel. It was freezing and wet. But things went way up from there. Especially the time I had a wet dream sleeping in my seat on the ferry from Brendizi (or Bari?) to Corfu. Did I share that with you? Remember the Corfu police detained me on arrival to the Island? We had some scary moments. That's what made it such a great experience. We stayed on Corfu for 2 weeks or so. Never got to London because of that. Corfu was great on the budget and I remember it being great sleeping on the beach with kids from all over the world – Matt and [REDACTED] too and those two girls from Cleveland.

That trip to Europe could get more space but the main point is that it really opened your eyes to another world. And mine too. But you Jeff seized it. I did too in a sense. But you spent the next summer in London and came home with a beautiful British babe named [REDACTED] You had such chuzpah to bring her to your beautiful, civilized, impressive home on Maple Ave. Think back on that now. That shows a lot. It really does. You didn't give a shit about what she thought. And she couldn't have been too impressed. You were seriously easy going – never up tight. Never worried, always confident. That aspect of your personality, of course coupled with your brilliance and intellect is what made you who and what you are today. That don't give a shit attitude, your calculated aloofness, your sense of humor and most importantly that confidence came to you early on. You had to have confidence and an I don't give a shit attitude to bring [REDACTED] into your Sea Gate world. It worked! You began to realize that you could get away with shit! That chicks and people in general were schinucks! You sensed that you were sharper and more astute than most.

Especially the ones who had women, money, position and power. Yes, your charisma and persuasive ways came very early on. And you didn't learn life's lessons in your house. You learned them from us (me, frog, WE) from Europe, Interlochen, our trips to the city and all the people you met along the way. Maybe you picked up a little from Timmy, too. Remember meeting Phillie? He's 16. He said he'll always remember how you said that Timmy taught you a lot about business. I know you enhanced that a bit, but that was a great thing to say to a kid., and I'll never forget it either. Warren and Phillie are crazy about each other and the kid is obviously enamoured by you and loved meeting you. It meant a lot to him and me. He's really a great kid – has that easy going, confident manner. Good looking kid.

So now you're fifty. No sweat Jeff. You look great, you're probably in the best shape of your life and you're not slowing down one bit. If no one told you how old you were – wouldn't you think you were 36 or something? Just don't get bored and stay healthy.

And then there's Warren. He's as hilarious as ever and exactly the same as he was 35 yrs. ago with his trench coat and his business man's boots BACK THEN! We see each other pretty often. When can Warren and I get together w/ you for at least an evening and just get Warren started, you know the way we used to. Maybe we need to include Zucca as a prop for Warren.

If you look at our little group of you, Warren, Frog and me. We were very close, although we never said or knew it back then. We didn't have girlfriends, we never even dated. We didn't look to our families really for anything, we had each other. That was through high school. Then when we went to college we were still close but we each began go branch out from the group. We had great times and I'm convinced – and I know this as fact: You guys made me what I became today and there's not a day that goes by that I don't think about you. So Jeff, even though we don't speak that often, and our lives don't intersect, you really are a part of me and I will always be grateful for the great times we had. You have been and still are a great influence for me. You don't know it, but you're my kid's role model. That's why it's so satisfying to recall the past with you. It has shaped both of us. When Warren and I get together, who and what do you think we talk about? You, You, You, You, its constant – I can't stand it anymore.

That's it for now. I know I got a bit sentimental, but it's the occasion. Take good care. I'll always have the fondest memories of our past and I can honestly say they were the best years of my life – even though I couldn't ever get laid.

Eternally and with love,

Johnny Boy

Dear Jeff

I'm supposed to write something funny - well I can't think of just a single episode but rather many years of great times; Sea Gate, Coney Island, MARK TWAIN, 188 Lafayette H.S. - our trips to Greenwich Village; Sneaking into the Fillmore East; driving taxi cabs, Max's Kansas City, wearing my green army fatigue jacket (that "Uncle Stanley" gave me) and "liberating" books from The Book store on 6th Ave + 8th Street (next to Prexy's - "Home of the Educated Hamburger!"); Stories about chronic UTIs; prostate massage, orgies; ICE SKATING in Prospect Park with Terry + me + Warren with scarves on our head so we could skate during "couples only" music; lake lights on center ice; bike riding in the middle of the night during allergy season; Herb Alpert records like "Whipped Cream" (and Jacques Loussier plays Bach!) Paula, Symon, Ruggy, "Chawmer Greenbag", Harold Skol, Maple Avenue getting stopped in Warren's Gold VW Beetle, The "Shed House" + big scarves with huge stripes, Looking underneath, NO underwear, The Shore Theatre; De Huba - Huba Luncheonette, CAROLINAS, The Riviera (+ the skew Family Pizzeria place), Cooper Union, your visit to Italy (Via Pandolfini, 27!) Firenze, your record store (+ the infamous flight of the Bumble Bee, Brighton Beach BATHS - Terry, Warren, Me + now you 50 years old! WOW! Happy Birthday - Best wishes Love Always Michael

SCOTT EHRLICH is good in math. Fame will one day cross his path.
WARREN EISENSTEIN—"I didn't do it!" is his alibi. "It was me that talked. It wasn't I."

STEPHEN GARONE—In art he paints. In English he faints.

HOWARD GLANTZMAN—He's the noise in back of the room, talking from September to June.

PAUL KAMINSKY—Paul is a genius but never shows it; we wonder if he really knows it.

CAREY KOPLOWITZ—There are happy people; there are sad people; there are good people; there are bad people; then there's Carey.

MARK LIPTON—Our captain brave and strong. How come he always leads us wrong?

JOEL MANDELMAN—At home, he says he often strains. Why, then, at home leaves he his brains?

ELLIOT RAINES—Ask about baseball, he'll answer quickly. Ask about science, he'll answer thickly.

STEPHEN SCHWARTZ—Chubby and jolly, a great guy, by golly!

BETTY BRODSKY—Never remembers, always forgets; she'll lose anything she didn't lose yet.

SHARON BROYDE—Sharon's motto will be forever "It's always better late—than never."

CHERYL GREENSPAN—If you need someone to brighten your way, Cheryi will do it by laughing all day.

ELLEN KATZ—Ellen is long and lanky. She studies with no hanky-panky.

DEBRA NESSEL—Debbie is full of joy. Only when she's with a boy.

GALE REIF—Gale will be a secretary and you may as well clap, for she'll wind up sitting on her boss's lap.

ENID ROSEMAN—They don't come sweeter. No one can beat'er.

AUDREY ROTH—There are geese in flocks and cattle in herds. There is Audrey, who talks in great big words.

BARBARA SCHWARTZ—Shy and gentle, nice and sweet. The kind of girl we like to meet.

MERRIL SINGER—There are as many freckles on her face as there are holes in Chantilly lace.

SANDRA STEIGMAN—For Sandra there is no excuse, some day she'll learn the truth about Zeus.

MELODY STERN—Melody is always the center of attraction; without her around there'd never be action.

KATHLEEN SUTER—Rumpelstiltskin never spun a gold as lovely as this one.

JUDITH TLUMAK—Shy and quiet in her seat, doesn't Judy look just sweet!

MRS. SCHARFSTEIN—A little laugh, a little cheer, a lot of work—Mrs. Scharfstein's here!

These has been consistent and remarkable progress in all fields. Jeffrey's English has improved with some words coming out with an exact English inflexion. Mixing with royalty perhaps. Foreign languages have significantly improved with special progress being made in Swedish Russian and currently Portuguese. French is also coming along. Recognition in the field of science is also forthcoming. The epstein contribute at Harvard. In health education it can be said that Jeffrey has truly mastered the whole game. Missing however still remain a weak point. The remain the most talented men in the world!

December, 2002

Jeffrey,

You could never imagine the surprise I felt when Ghislaine first contacted me about writing something for your memory book.

Over the years I have thought of Class 5-3 & 6-3, numerous times with affection and really fond memories. After all, you guys were my second class EVER and I had just transferred from my first job, which was in, of all places, Fort Apache, The Bronx! Imagine, coming from a class of hold-overs, delinquents, and worse, to a class of "Intellectually Gifted Children." Believe me, it was quite a chore just to keep one step ahead of that class.

One day, about 2 weeks ago, I was on the Northern State Parkway on my way home, creeping along at 5 miles an hour, in the midst of a snowstorm, when my cell phone rang. I spent the next 15 minutes or so reliving the past with Warren, who was calling from sunny Dallas, Texas. As we talked and he mentioned students' names, most of the faces flashed before my eyes. I even told him.... Jeffrey, saxophone, Michael, clarinet, Warren, saxophone and so on for most of the class. He later sent me a picture of the class and there I was, much thinner, with black horn-rimmed glasses and a full head of dark brown hair. There you were, just as I remembered you, with a Mona Lisa smile that hid what was really going on in that interesting brain of yours. Who could have guessed the wonderful, fascinating things that were in store for you?

I remember discussing Abraham Lincoln with the class and staring in wonder at the student who had read all of Sandberg's Life of Lincoln and spouted facts of which I was totally unaware. I also remember my math (never my strong suit) being corrected from time to time, very respectfully, by Jeffrey. I also remember the Coney Island Cleanup Parade and performing onstage at Lafayette and blowing away the audience who had just listened to a Junior High orchestra.

I have many awards and plaques on my office walls, at home and at work.... too many for any one place, but for all these years I still treasure and display the gold painted, wooden plaque that I received from your class for being the "Best Teacher."

I'm thrilled and delighted that you still remember me and that in some small way I may have made a difference and touched your life. Happy Birthday!

In 1963, you were around 10 and I was 23.... twice as old as you. Today you are 50 and I'm 63.... somehow you're catching up! How did that happen?

GIRLFRIENDS

Dearest Jeffrey,

If I were to list my life time achievements, surely scoring higher than you on the ninth grade algebra regent would rank in the top ten. I'll never forget the exhilaration of considering myself smarter than Jeffrey Epstein in math. That same year, you not only performed mathematical magic by tutoring me to get a perfect score on the regent, you thrilled our class in music by playing "California Dreaming" on the piano, and thrilled me even more by stealing a kiss after "The Sound of Music" at Radio City Music Hall.

When we met again some time after college, you had shoulder length curls, wore wonderful hand-embroidered denim work shirts and tight jeans, and drove a brown Camaro with a glove compartment full of parking tickets. Needless to say, you had outgrown your shyness around girls and even confessed that you participated in peace marches because they were the easiest places to get laid. A truly unique perspective on political activism in the 70's.

A few years later during a trip to Palm Beach, we were driving around admiring the homes when you pointed in the direction of a particularly impressive mansion and said, "One day, I'm going to own that." I smiled and considered your comment nothing more than wishful thinking. Many mansions later, you have shown me the importance of having a vision and the determination to pursue it. A lesson I continue to rely upon for inspiration.

From lessons in algebra to lessons in life, the lessons I've learned from you during the past 35 years haven't always been easy or even ones that I would have chosen to learn, but they were always important. I'm very grateful to have you for a friend and hope that if you ever need help solving a rate/time/distance problem, you won't hesitate to call.

All my love,

This album was specially designed and hand-bound for you by WEITZ-COLEMAN using only the finest calf and Moroccan skins which are individually selected and vegetable tanned for bookbinding. Variations in color and surface markings are natural characteristics of fine leather and are your assurance of its quality. The buttery softness of calfskin give it great tactile appeal and lends itself to easy scuffing which develops into an exquisite antique patina. We recommend that the binding be treated with lanolin and neatsfoot oil at least once a year. You may bring in your WEITZ-COLEMAN binding for a complimentary treatment.

Of all the works composed or planned or published in this period, one stands out for both its fame and its substance: the Piano Sonata in C minor, Op 13, called by Beethoven himself the Pathétique and published by Hoffmeister of Vienna in December 1799 with a dedication to Prince Karl Lichnowsky. The Allgemeine Musikalische Zeitung (19 February 1800) praised it in high terms. Modelled in its formal outline on ideas first tried out in one of the early Electoral Sonatas of 1783, it more than any other of Beethoven's works up to this time seemed to herald the dawn of the new century. From its dramatic opening grave chords, through its searchingly expressive, emotional Adagio to the nervous intensity and defiance of the final Allegro, the Pathétique was a burial of the past, a celebration of the future.

The years of apprenticeship were over, Beethoven had finally arrived.

FRIENDS

Finally, at the home of our friend, let's call him Mr. Brown, Jeffrey unveiled his plan. To some it may have seemed a get-rich-quick scheme, but to me it was pure genius: Rob and Kill was the name of the plan. The first victim, [REDACTED] to be attacked and brutally plundered ( would she want more than that?) on the boardwalk in Venice Beach. Broad daylight. The dastardly thieves were never caught.

Postscript: I retired from "the life", but I recently read an article in New York which led me to believe that my old friend Mr. E had continued on and become an industry leader.

Jeffrey was such a nice man, a sweet, innocent type. One of my employees called him Mr. Epstein, the math teacher. Always ready to lend a hand, help a friend in need. He even volunteered to help out in surgery at UCLA, scrubbed, put on the gown, the whole bit, just to do his part.

Then, things began to change. I think it was shortly after he encouraged Morgan to say “woof” on the phone to me that I noticed the beginning. And then, while his friends were willing to either go blissfully ahead, eyes closed, trusting in the Almighty, Jeffrey began to get that look in his eye. He was cooking up something, something either evil or at least deadly. I always hoped he wasn’t spurred to action by my action – the unforgivable, immortal sin of getting married.

Who Was That Man With Epstein?

Enquiring minds are asking, "Who was that man with Epstein?" Jeffrey Epstein is, of course, one of the world's most famous men, a household name throughout the planet. His picture has appeared on the cover of every magazine in the world. Everyone knows his story - - from his humble roots on Coney Island to his rise as one of the most envied public figures of the western world. But what was he doing flying to Africa with an obscure former politician from Hope, Arkansas? Who is that politician and why would Epstein have picked him for the coveted seat on his private jet. Vanity Unfair was determined to get to the bottom of this mystery man and to reveal the story behind the story. Normally we would not pry into the private life of an obscure Arkansas politician, particularly one who has tried so hard, and up to now so successfully, to keep his private life to himself. But the moment this obscure man stepped onto the Epstein jet, he became fair game for probing enquiry. Why would a man like Epstein, who can pick and choose his companions from princes to professors, select a flying companion from the Ozark Mountains? To be sure, he was a Rhodes Scholar, but we all know how easy it is to get a Rhodes if you're from Arkansas. There must be something else. Vanity Unfair decided to snoop around. The obscure politician reluctantly agreed to an interview, on the express condition that it was completely off the record. This is what he told us...

"I've done a lot of soul searching, and I've come to the conclusion that I should be thinking less about money and more about naked women, and biomathematical research."

Case 1:25-cv-23232-DPG Document 35-5 Entered on FLSD Docket 09/22/2025 Page 132 of 239
It's no secret that Jeffrey appreciates beautiful women. But not many people know that he can create them out of thin air -- at least he did in Iowa in 1988.

At the time, I was managing the money of the Zimmerman family, and they lived in Fairfield Iowa, a town of less than 10,000 people between Ottumwa and Burlington. Hog farming is a serious industry there, and many feel there is more than a little truth to the saying that its hard to tell the difference between the girls and the hogs in Southeast Iowa.

I had invited Jeffrey to come to Fairfield to see our investment operations, meet the Zimmerman family, and learn more about their major charitable projects. He asked about the nightlife and we could only laugh as we dropped him off at the local motel. The next morning a group of 4 of us picked up Jeffrey to give him a tour of the area. At our first stop we parked in front of a bookstore. As we were getting out of the car, a spectacular tall blonde woman suddenly come out of the store, walked directly past us and up to Jeffrey and announced: "I am new to this area, what's going on?". It turned out she was a sales representative for a firm selling academic branded athletic clothing, and she was literally driving through Iowa visiting local campuses. Jeffrey invited her to join us, and did his magic. Within a few hours, he had invited her to return to New York with him for the weekend.

The guys in the car we astonished to even see such an attractive lady in Fairfield, amazed that she passed over them to meet Jeff, and were speechless when she agreed to come to New York. I'll admit to wondering at the time whether Jeffrey somehow arranged the whole episode through some long distance escort service. But the following week I happened to be in Manhattan and Jeffrey asked me to give her a ride back in our company plane, giving me a chance to speak with her for a few hours. She was the real McCoy.

Happy Birthday Jeff!

Best wishes,

Bill Elkus

You very dear boy,

***** Going back into the past as I have over the last few days has in some ways proved a melancholy experience all the old criminals suddenly came leaping out at me Mac,Ogilvy,Swire,Baring,Alfonse, the Brigadier,the old man and all the good times that we had together.One of the sad things in life is that fate conspires to move people apart to the extent that I hardly see you any more but,I suppose that is why we are compensated by memories.

***** I was speaking to BB last night before writing this e-mail and we both agreed that we were at a loss to decide which of the hundreds of hilarious incidents to pinpoint for you,there are just too many.inspecting the Royal School girls dorms,chasing rabbits with Toto in the old mans dino,trying to get [REDACTED] husband out of the way in Manila,blocking Ogilvies loo with the illegal goose at Barings wedding ,doing three point turns in the tunnel in HK when we asked the Mandarin driver to find us some girls,dancing the night away in the Tin Mine in KL,massage classes at Wraxall.....and so on and so on it brings tears to my eyes.

^^ However, there was one evening which I recall always had you howling with laughter.We were in Harry's Bar in London you ,me ,the old man ,Toto,[REDACTED] and the usual extraordinary group of camp followers Lord Long,Ian Cruikshank,etc etc.Somewhat Toto got it into his head that [REDACTED] was a call girl that doggie had fixed up for him.after dinner we all went off to Tramps and Toto and doggie got into the back of doggies car with [REDACTED] sitting between them.Toto grinning happily at the old man reached down and pulled [REDACTED] skirt up to her panties and put his hand on her pussy.The old man smiling sweetly leaned over stuffed his hand into her pants so that Toto found his fingers playing with doggies.Suddenly the awful truth sunk in but Toto was too shocked to remove his hand so they drove to Tramps with both of them still trapped in [REDACTED] knickers.

^^^ All my love and a very very happy birthday with many more years to come in the future than there are years behind you.

***** Nick.

Once upon a time, an intelligent, sharp-witted man they call
"mysterious" parachuted into my life ...

You would spend many hours
just waiting for him to turn up

And often, as sooner were you getting used to having him around,
You would suddenly be alone ....
again

leaving you with some "interesting" friends to entertain instead. ...

Or just some dogs to keep you company

(he wasn't always so keen on them)

But then he would parachute back in...

Very occasionally, taking you by surprise in some far off places

Or in one of his glorious homes he likes to share with his friends
(yuan yuan)

But, wherever he is in the world, he remains my best pal !

Happy Birthday,
Jeffrey

We love you !!

January 2003

Dear Jeffrey,

The beginning of a new year is an appropriate time to count our blessings.

Among mine is your friendship. It's been more than a decade since we met by chance at an airport in Washington. During that time you've been a good friend. I'm grateful for that and for what I hope will be many more years of your friendship.

Among your blessings has been the opportunity to lead a full, exciting, and fantastically varied life. Now that you've reached a critical milestone, I hope you will intensify your activities in the widest possible range of issues, especially in the field of science where you've already done so much.

With my congratulations, gratitude and best wishes,

Gayle Hitchell

P.S. As you know, Heather shares your birthday, confirming my belief that a lot of great people were born on January 20!

Jeffery,
I have agonized long and hard about what to write for your birthday.

One version was a highly philosophical take on personal perception. I'll spare you the tortured prose but the gist was that the way we see the world depends on our experiences - how we parse things. You're one of the few people who has influenced how I parse and understand the world, and that version lauded you for it.

But, that seemed too heavy and pedantic, so out it went..

Another version was silly and salacious, since your approach to life has so much of each of these things. A few years ago somebody at a party asked me "Does Jeffrey Epstein manage your money?". I replied "No, but he advises me on lifestyle". The guy's eyes bugged out of his head and he said "REALLY?".

Alas I am ill prepared to comment on your lifestyle in any detail, since I am (sadly) so far behind that it would be talking about things I know little of!

Yet another approach was to comment on our shared interests in science and exploration, but again it seemed lacking.

So, in the end I have wound up with this silly excuse for a missive - neither profound nor funny. But, I've included a few photos that I took on my recent trip to Africa. They seemed more appropriate than anything I could put in words.

Dear Jeffrey,

Since we first met, some 30 years ago, I never imagined I would open New York Magazine and read "Jeffrey Epstein International Man of Mystery."

Jeffrey, I care about you, and those that really knew you, know that you are not a "mystery man." You are enigmatic to most that think differently, those without your incisive sense as to how the world works.

The magic that you possess is your remarkable capacity to arrive at solutions. It's always been Oscar Wilde and Jeffrey Epstein that were always right.

You are perceptive, insightful, concise - all in 30 seconds. If you don't get it in 30 seconds, you will not get it - the moment will have passed.

You centered individuality, your lack of desire for public recognition reminds me of a story I once heard about the Irish playwright, Samuel Beckett - he spent his life avoiding the public eye. None was a greater sense of displeasure than recognition from the teeming masses. So, the story goes like this - Beckett was with his mistress in Morocco and received a telegram from Ireland with the news he had been awarded the Nobel Prize. His reaction? "This is the worst news I have ever received"

A word from the wise, to the wise, is sufficient.

Jeffrey, I love you, as a brilliant and unpredictable friend. May you always maintain your inner solitude. I wish you health, stealth + continued wealth, not necessarily in that order. Happy Birthday!

JEFFREY

I MET JEFFREY AS A CLIENT ALTHOUGH VERY QUICKLY, EVEN THOUGH WE WERE WORKING TOGETHER, WE BECAME FRIENDS; SO I CONSIDER HIM FIRST A FRIEND. OF COURSE, BECOMING FRIENDS WAS INEVITABLE BECAUSE FOR THE FIRST TIME I MET SOMEONE CRAZIER THAN ME...!!!

HE CAN MAYBE BE A BEAR, BUT MOSTLY A TEDDY BEAR. HE IS THE MOST ADORABLE AND COOLEST FRIEND THAT ANYONE CAN HAVE.

COLLECTING HOMES IS HIS HOBBY. WHEN I MET HIM HE DID NOT WANT ANY CONSTRUCTION; HE COULD NOT STAND TO LOOK AT FABRIC WITH PRINTED PATTERNS; HE DETESTED CHINESE CURIO AND TODAY HE BEGS FOR ALL OF THESE!

THE LAST TIME I SAW HIM WE MET TO REVIEW A PLAN. DURING OUR MEETING HE MADE MANY CONSTRUCTIVE COMMENTS AND WHEN WE LEFT I SAID TO MY COLLEAGUES "YOU KNOW, HE WAS RIGHT!". HE LEARNS SO QUICKLY THAT SOON HE WILL BE OUTTHINKING ME!

FOR THIS OCCASION, I GIVE HIM ALL MY TENDERNESS AND MY MOST SINCERE AND DEEPEST FRIENDSHIP, EVEN THOUGH SOMETIMES
HE CAN BE A ROYAL PAIN IN THE ASS!

Chocolate Chip Cookies

Ingredients:

- 2 cups butter
- 2 1/2 cups sugar
- 2 cups brown sugar
- 4 eggs
- 2 tbl vanilla
- 4 cups flour
- 5 cups oatmeal (before grinding)
- 1 tsp salt
- 2 tsp baking powder
- 2 tsp baking soda
- 1/2 cup unsweetened cocoa
- 1 24oz bag chocolate chips (semi-sweet)

Directions:

preheat oven to 350° grind 5 cups oatmeal in blender (will reduce to approx 4 cups ground). mix all ingredients together in a large bowl. drop dough in rounded spoonfuls onto non-stick cookie sheet.
bake 8-10 minutes.

(makes approx 60-80 cookies depending on size)

The second equation is one of the Rogers-Ramanujan identities. These are some pretty important identities discovered by Ramanujan towards the end of his short life (and it turns out Rogers had published them earlier, but nobody had noticed!). Incidentally, are you familiar with Ramanujan? He was a remarkable self-taught mathematician who grew up in India a century ago.

$$\zeta(s) = \sum_{n=1}^{\infty} \frac{1}{n^s} = \prod_{p \text{ prime}} \frac{1}{1-p^{-s}}$$

$$1 + \sum_{k=1}^{\infty} \frac{q^{k^2}}{(1-q)(1-q^2) \dots (1-q^k)} = \prod_{j=0}^{\infty} \frac{1}{(1-q^{5j+1})(1-q^{5j+4})}$$

$$1 + \frac{e^{-2\pi\sqrt{5}}}{e^{-4\pi\sqrt{5}}} = \left( 1 + \sqrt[5]{\frac{5}{4}} \left( \frac{\sqrt{5}-1}{2} \right)^{5/2} - 1 \right) e^{2\pi/\sqrt{5}}$$

The third equation is one of Ramanujan's most elaborate identities. I don't think it's very important in the overall scheme of things, but it certainly looks impressive.

F and only F would ask Mandelbrot, "How f***ed up are your kids?"

Solutions beyond the obvious.

The final picture is a paradox discovered by Lewis Carroll. A 13-by-13 square is cut up into four pieces, which are reassembled into an 8-by-21 rectangle. However  $13^2 = 8 \times 21 + 1$ . Where did the missing unit of area go?

$$13 \times 13 = 8 \times 21?$$

The first picture is a visualization of Euclid's proof of the Pythagorean theorem. He wanted to show that the big square on the hypotenuse had area exactly equal to those of the small squares combined. To do this, he dropped a perpendicular line (the one in the picture that cuts through the triangle and the big square) and claimed that the two rectangles it divided the big square into had areas equal to those of the small squares. To establish that, he showed that all four shaded triangles had the same area (which is not too hard using the 1/2-base-times-height area formula for triangles). The structure of the proof is often obscured by using a single diagram covered with letters labeling various things.

Dear Jeffrey,

On this occasion, I am reminded of our many conversations, fueled by both your curiosity and your skepticism. Quoting great minds may be the only gift I can give you to stimulate the one and relieve the other.

First, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr.:

"Certitude is not the test of certainty. We have been cocksure of many things that were not so." Your curiosity, continuing on with your skepticism, will take care of this without hazard, birthday after birthday.

Next, Thoreau:

"Pursue, keep up with, circle round and round your life, as a dog does his master's chaise. Do what you love. Know your own bone; gnaw at it, bury it, unearth it, and gnaw it still." This too, you do admirably.

Then, Leonardo da Vinci:

"Iron rusts from disuse, stagnant water loses its purity and in cold weather becomes frozen; even so does inaction sap the vigors of the mind." Epstein is not at risk. When he is in the room, you do not fall asleep.

Finally, a remark from the not so great Gertrude Stein on your anxieties:

"As a cousin of mine once said about money, money is always there but the pockets change; it is not in the same pockets after a change, and that is all there is to say about money."

You have said more and, going beyond talk, have shown how to find it.

And so, felicitations on the vigors of your body and mind, and warm hopes for many occasions celebrating their gifts.

The primordial soup, here or elsewhere, generated a quasispecies of aperiodic macromolecules. Quasispecies live in sequence space, which is a collection of hyper-dimensional cubes. Each cube arises by ordering all possible sequences of a certain length in such a way that nearest neighbors differ in only one position. The length of the genome determines the dimension of the cube. A very small gene, for example, lives in a 1000 dimensional cube. Its sequence is 1 particular choice out of  $10^{600}$  possibilities.

For comparison there are only  $10^{80}$  protons in our universe.

Look at this drawing.
Picture the scene without the audience, the girl sleeping on the floor I believe had shorter hair then ...
Does it bring you back memories
??

I'm thinking of all the great times we had together. You know you will always be my very close friend even though we don't see each other so much anymore.

Have a happy 50th (I can't believe it!) But the good news is: you look better than you did years ago when we first met.
Love always

I received a call from Ghislaine, who I had worked on (massaged) twice in the last few months, to work on her "employer": "He is a business man and wants you to work on his feet at his desk," She said. My first thought was, 'Corns and bunions and a curmudgeon of a man'.

When I first set eyes on you, on March 22, 1993, you were sitting behind an enormous desk, in your office at home on 69th street, in a jean shirt and sweatpants and your feet were possibly the most beautiful that I had ever seen belonging to a man. I remember thinking that you looked like a more handsome Ralph Lauren. We moved over to a sitting area and I sat on a footstool and worked on your feet, while you, in an armchair, watched me and Ghislaine worked on your shoulders. After a few minutes you gave me that squinched-eye look (a mix of calculation and enjoyment, both devouring and yet submissive) that is so you, and moaned a bit and I thought... ok, this is going well. Within 10 minutes of my being there, you asked me to leave with you guys that night to go to Florida. I had never heard of anything so spontaneous and far-fetched and yet I knew that you were serious. I had a previous engagement (I was throwing a dinner party) and so you said you would see me when you got back and have your secretary call and schedule. You did... and my life was forever changed.

I am grateful, really beyond any words that I can put here, for your friendship, your belief in me, for all that you have taught me, all the opportunities that you have given me, and all the fascinating people you have introduced me to.
When I met you, I was so tightly wound and you were so easy and you gave me a happy medium. You showed me how much more I am than I ever thought I was. Your guidance has kept me on track and encouraged me to grow and think bigger. You built my business and my confidence; have sent me on travels that changed my life; given, given, given to me; taken care of my friends and family members. You have taught me how to laugh and think in new ways; protected me and made me feel safe. You have been infinitely patient with me and I am so blessed.
With you, dear Jeffrey, I laugh like a little girl and feel like a woman. I love you

Happy Birthday to "My Favorite"!

Jeffrey, we met in the summer of 1985 at "Indochine" which makes up friends for 17 yrs... can you believe it!!

During these years we have had a lot of fun watching each other grow up. But there are a few memories that particularly stand out which should make you chuckle!

First, the day Clark Schubach brought me over to your apt. and then left! After chatting for a bit you blurted out "you are a virgin right"... after recovering from embarrassment I answered yes, how did you know and you said "because you talk so fast" Ha! Ha! Then there was the day we went shopping together at Bloomingdales and you proceeded to throw me down on the floor... right smack in the middle of the shoe dept. and started tickling and kissing me all over!! Next, there was the time I stayed at your house because my apt. was not yet ready to move into and one morning I woke up and there were white Roses all over the room so I asked who they were for (thinking you had a girlfriend coming over etc.) and you replied "For You" ... that was one of the most sweetest/special moments I've had with you. Then there was [REDACTED] black tie birthday party. I was so excited that you invited me... Ace Greenberg was there so I looked really cool as I just started working at Bear Stearns and there was one waiter for each couple... now that was "chic". I still smile each morning at the picture from that party which you sent me this past July for my birthday... Jeffrey what I love about you is that sometimes you can be just so sweet & sentimental... thank you for sharing that part of yourself with me! Next was a time you were driving around with Jo Jo and had a craving for frozen yogurt so stopped by for an impromptu visit cause you know I always have a treat in the freezer... you were so cute as you entered my apartment with that big grin on your face!!

Then remember the time I was living in California and you invited me to Palm Beach for a visit.
Well you had a guest, and I hadn't seen you in awhile and wanted to spend some private time with you so we went out to the movies alone Gosh I could go on and on but I suffice it to say I have loved most every minute I've had knowing you over these past years. All the chats we've had, life lessons, boy strategy, tears to laughter and on and on. I hope I've made you proud and look forward to more adventures / exciting times with you in the years to come!

XOXO

IQH!

10 December, 2002

Jeffrey... you and I out at a Halloween Party!!

Visiting you down
in Palm Beach...
Can't get a second
of privacy with you and a camera around! Ha!

My dear Jeffrey,

I can write about how I want to cut you into bird-head pieces and chew them between my molars until I suck all the blood and juice out of you. (No stew, just raw)

Or, I can write about how you never cease to amaze me with your kindness and generosity to so many, whose lives you touch in several ways. (Thanks for taking me to Gospel.)

Most importantly, I can tell you how happy you make me by simply being "you".

Yet, no words would suffice to capture what you really mean to me. I am very lucky to have you in my life and hope that you know I will be there for you, if you ever need me.

Happy Birthday!

P.S.: I do NOT share.

Who Am I
???

Before Jeffrey,
I was a 22 year old divorcee working as a hostess in a hotel restaurant.....

After Jeffrey,

I now live in New York City, have traveled to Paris, London, Milan, Copenhagen, Tokyo,
Hong Kong, Stockholm, China, Singapore,
Brunei, Bangkok, Bali, Ghana, Nigeria,
Mozambique, Rwanda, South Africa,
Morocco, Ireland, St. Tropez, Florida,
St. Barts, St. Thomas, St. John, New Mexico,
Moscow, St. Petersburg, Aspen...

I have met Prince Andrew, President Clinton,
Sultan of Brunei, Donald Trump,
Antonio Verglas, Naomi Campbell,
Stephanie Seymour, Peter Brant,
Kevin Spacey, Chris Tucker, Diana Ross,
Michael Jackson, brilliant scientists,
lawyers and business men,

I have flown on the Concorde, gone sky-diving, taken a flying lesson, been snuba-diving,
para-sailing, attended a Victoria's Secret fashion show, seen the private quarters of Buckingham Palace, sat on the Queen of England's throne, rode on a race-track with Max Papis, learned countless skills...

Jeffrey, there are no words to describe how much I appreciate and admire you. I believe you are the most extraordinary person I've ever met and can't believe how lucky I am to have become a part of your life. What you have shown and taught me in one year is more than most people experience in a lifetime.

What else can I say butt...

Thank You!!!

JEFFREY .....

HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

Jimmy

P/S - FROM A "SIX" TO ANOTHER "SIX" .....

GOOD HEALTH & GOOD LUCK!

When Jeffrey joined Bear, Stearns twenty-four years ago, it was our plan to put him on the American Stock Exchange floor to trade options on common stocks.

Up until then, options had been traded Over the Counter. Jeff said no, and that was the last difference we ever had.

Working with Jeffrey has been a pleasure and watching his meteoric success has given me many vicarious thrills.

I am sure that we will see Jeffrey's star glow even brighter.

Good luck Jeffrey –

Dear Jeffrey,

We started out behind the desk some 25 years ago.

Somehow I'm still behind the desk - you're not.... I'm asking myself now what I'm still doing there, but it certainly helps define why you're my hero.

All the best, happy birthday.

I wish you love + laughter always,

Ted Serune

Jeffrey I remember in the mid 1970s you being a star salesman for our tax advantaged strategies and hedged option program. I was running an account for Bob Maxwell. You always had the ability to know everyone and be charming. Was that when you first discovered the Maxwell teen-age daughter.....Happy Birthday Elliot Wolk

DEAR SEFFREY

WELCOME TO THE CLUB

FROM THE FIRST TIME THAT WE TRAVELED TO COLOMBOS AND YOU HAD GHAISLAINE CARRY YOUR BAGS AT THE AIRPORT,
I KNEW I WOULD LEARN A LOT FROM YOU.

MY BEST WISHES FOR A VERY

IRA

P.S. I STILL MISS MY HAT

P.S.S. I GAVE UP ON MY TIE

THE NEXT FIFTY YEARS

Let the next fifty years be more full of photos and things like these

To the next fifty years.

'know when ya are winning'
The next fifty years will be even more wonderful

Happy Birthday
lots of love Shirley
